

ABSTRACT

37 Data packets (ATM-Z1, ATM-Z2) partitioned into substructure elements (SE) are set up for data transmission via the packet oriented data transmission path. Channels with a time slot oriented format (TDM) are assigned to the data received
5 via the packet oriented data transmission path by a conversion unit (UE). The converted data is then switched via a time slot oriented switching matrix module (KN).